WHEELS ACROSS CAMPUS

From our first day in the confines of Oberlin's environment, our existence has been keynoted by the bicycle. New and gleaming our freshman year, a little tarnished by the end of our sophomore year, shiny from lack of paint and the portage of more than one our junior year, our common conveyance lay in a heap—rejected and dejected on the "claim" pile behind the police station after our last departure—no more to be used by us, but to be reclaimed by some footsore frosh, only to repeat the cycle until there is no more left to be abused. The 1952 HI-O-HI is humbly dedicated to this medium of our Oberlin lives.

FAMILIAR SIGHTS IN THE OBERLIN WORLD . . .

These happenings didn't make the news, yet they reflect the atmosphere of Oberlin. Perennially with us, from the eternal studying in the libe gloom room to the smoke and clamor of the snack bar, Oberlin's topsy-turvy life spins on in its own orbit. Amid the constant pressure of studies and activities, these common occurrences are often overlooked; here an attempt is made to preserve them for you with pictures.

WE KEEP OUR FINGERS CROSSED

"What is that Hole?" you ask. No, it's not an archaeological attempt to resurrect Oberlin B.C. It's the beginning of Hall Memorial Auditorium. Located on North Main Street, facing Tappan Square, the ultra-modern building will be faced with a curved wall of marble or aluminum. Combining a 500 seat auditorium in the general shape of a violin case, a 36 by 80 foot stage, and a two-story workshop, the building promises to be the outstanding one of its kind in the country. The auditorium will be used for meetings, lectures, dramatic productions, and other educational purposes by the college and the community, while the workshop will provide space for rehearsals, preparation of scenery and sets, and storage of properties. In addition to the latest developments in stage lighting, curtains, and backdrops, provisions have been made for television and motion picture projection.

PARTIES, OPEN HOUSES HIGHLIGHT YEAR

With most of Oberlin's social life centering around the dorms, the year is filled with open houses, formals, hayrides, splash parties, formal dinners, and just plain parties. ## IDLE HOURS

Keeping a watchful eye on the social activities of the student body, the Social Board saw that each weekend there was something to do, whether it was an All-College, a square dance, or some special event such as Obie's Opus. In addition to the dances, which also included nightly dancing at Rec Hall and several turnabouts, the board sponsored bridge, ping-pong, and bowling tournaments. The record concerts held every Sunday evening at the Allen Art Building attracted those who preferred to mix their study and entertainment. Second semester events included a turnabout weekend with the faculty, given with WSGL and WAA, and several dances held in connection with the Mock Convention.

YM, YW UNITE EFFORTS

The YM and YW have worked cooperatively this year on their common purposes of meeting student religious needs, placing volunteers in community service projects, and providing opportunities for the development of Christian leadership. Twenty-one of the Y committees were jointly staffed by the two organizations.

The work of each Y is divided into five areas each represented by a commission: Religious Emphasis, Community Service, Public Affairs, Campus Service, and Administrative (Publicity). Each commission is in turn divided into several committees which carry out the Y purposes by work on specific projects.

Y'S COVER CAMPUS,

Although the YW acted jointly with the YM in most of its activities, it operated several committees separately. One such committee learned to make small gifts and ornaments and other articles of handicraft; another performed personal service for patients in rest homes; another conducted tours to Cleveland juvenile homes and to Cleveland churches. But the largest part of the program was carried on jointly with the YM. The weekly evening vespers and the daily morning matins catered to student religious needs, as did the Religious Conferences with Dr. Robert Calhoun and Dr. Howard Thurman. Cell groups sponsored by, or coordinated by, the Y's gave students a chance to exchange their ideas and examine their convictions on subjects ranging from Marx to McCarthy and from dating to divinity. Recreational leadership was provided for the community and surrounding area as groups guided school children in community houses in the industrial sections of Lorain and Elyria. Other groups, working with children from the May Nursery Home and the County Home in Oberlin, planned parties, taught crafts, and escorted the children to college athletic and entertainment events.

Gret Winterhoff, Nan Cole, Mary Beeler, Franny Cressey, and Sandy Perlman work at felt jewelry, one of the many crafts taught at the YW Creative Workshop.

Anne Josselyn, Nansie Sharpless, Jean Cochran, Margie Lindley, Alice Babcock, and Marge Diebolt mend clothing for overseas at a World Community group meeting.

COUNTY, CAPITAL

YM-YW cooperation was continued in many other phases of Y work. Quartets, soloists, instrumentalists, and actors staffed the joint Y committee that toured hospitals and homes for the aged providing entertainment for the patients. Budding politicians were given a pre-Convention warm-up when they joined the Y political discussion groups, attended the open forums, or trooped to Washington with the Social Action group to protest U.M.T. Another group kept the campus informed of opportunities for summer work in all parts of the world, while yet another directed weekly radio shows on KOCN. Orientating newcomers to the Oberlin scene occupied the attention of two other groups, one of which worked with foreign students, while the other supplemented the orientation program for freshmen. Both Y's cooperated to put out a bi-weekly news letter and to draw posters for campus publicity.

Rounding out the Y activities were a few separate committees of the YM. Student opinion on controversial issues was sampled by one committee; another ran a HI-Y group in the local high school; a third sponsored a program for those considering the ministry as an occupation.

Janie Bell conducts Y Vespers, the midweek service of inspiration and meditation so welcomed by many as a relief from the tensions of a busy college life.

PHOLLIES HIGHLIGHT CRD DRIVE

The almost universal student tendency to refuse to be charitable until coaxed continued to tax the ingenuity of the CRD this year. Their new organization, an elected nine-man board, headed by Al Jeandheur, worked toward a student-determined goal of $10,000. Funds were given to the Exchange Student Program, the American Friends Service Committee, the World Students Service Fund and eight other student and European aid organizations. This year CRD sponsored the first formal, Autumn Nocturne, and the 1951 Phinnies Phollies.

Men's Career Conference, with Bob Bent and Ben Belknap acting as student chairmen, brought forty-four experts to the campus from colleges, government, professions, and industry to preside over meetings, help evaluate their occupations, and advise students on the training required for the various careers. Francis W. Hatch, vice-president of Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, Inc. keynoted the sixth bi-annual conference. Following his speech at the Friday noon chapel, ninety minute sectional meetings covered the major occupational fields of physical science, engineering, business, social administration, religion, law, public administration, medicine, journalism, public relations, and music. The consultants and their student hosts wound up the afternoon at a special banquet in Talcott dining hall.

OPERA WORKSHOP

PRESENTS TWO SHOWS, ADDED TO CON CURRICULUM

Opera Workshop started two years ago as a summer activity under the direction of Professor Daniel Harris. Enthusiastic student response to the program warranted its being added to the regular curricula of the Conservatory of Music in 1950-51. The aim of the workshop is to provide a background in music and stage presence for those who plan to follow an operatic career.

In cooperation with ODA, Opera Workshop, formally known as the Oberlin Conservatory Opera Laboratory, opened the 1951-52 concert season in Warner Hall with "An Evening of Opera", a repeat performance of their summer program with scenes from Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" and Verdi's "Aida" and Menotti's opera, "The Old Maid and the Thief".

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN PLAYERS

"'Iolanthe' was the best show that the Gilbert and Sullivan group has yet produced. It had sparkle, delicacy, assurance, deftness, and just enough bravura." This was Professor Karl Thompson's report, despite handicaps of "dubbing" voices, a stuffy auditorium, and a chorus in darkness during one performance.

Ronny Singer and Ann McWethy coordinated the groups responsible for the show.

MIDDLE: John Seiling as Private Willis succeeds in growing wings as he joins the peers in taking fairy wives.

PRESENT PEERLESS SHOW DESPITE CASUALTIES

Mike Charry and Helen Thompson assisted the cast in learning to drown out Mummies' rehearsals in the adjoining studio. The strenuous rehearsals, climaxed by a day in which boxed suppers were eaten at the studio, resulted in a lively group of haughty peers and dancing fairies. Mustaches, filmy costumes, Lynn Partridge's Arcadian landscape, and the topsy-turvy political situation contributed to the total effect. The publicity efforts, headed by Jim Mills and John Rechsteiner, resulted in a capacity audience for every performance.

TOP: Polly Griswold, Marilyn Zoller and Nancy Stauffer are surrounded by fairies May Dandison, Fritz Fox, Betty Jean Green, Barb Landram, Jeanne Marquis, Fran Marsh, Mimi Riessen, Ann Williams, Shirley David, Barb Drew, Bobby Edelman, Lyn Fonda, Lee Kinard, Jean McDonald, Betsy Milne, Ruth Perlstein, and Jan Sampson.

MIDDLE: Cavorting through six encores, trio Larry Cohen, Gigi Cascio, and Henry Wing captivated their audience at each performance.

STUDENT WRITTEN MUSICALS, DRAMAS, MOVIE

Potential actors, dancers, singers, writers, directors, and composers all find their meeting ground in Mummers, the only organization on campus which produces varied types of original student work from musical comedy to expressionistic drama. This year, continuing in its tradition as a center of dramatic activity, Mummers presented Three Originals: a musical play, "The Apple Tree", by Marcia and Chris Hamilton; a movie, "The Printer", by Dick Lillich; and a short exercise in the Four Theatres, "Scenes of Love and Likelihood", by Bill Honan. Under the direction of Richey, Lillich, and Sharmat, rehearsals for the fall show were held in Mummers' new studio on North Main Street, remodelled during the course of the past summer by hard-working Mummers.

As an independent branch of Mummers, the Workshop met every Sunday afternoon. Here both copyrighted and original scenes, songs, and dances were produced and criticized by students; and a few times a month faculty members stepped in to lecture on such topics as "Death of a Salesman," "Forms of Tragedy," and "The Art of Acting." Hi-lights of the past season were the giant production in "theatre in the round" style of O'Casey's "Juno and the Peacock," and the Workshop's version of Dickens' "Christmas Carol," complete with turkeys, a blazing fire, and spooky spirits of Christmas Past, Present, and Future. Workshop members still remember Scrooge's slightly inaccurate but memorable line, "How many spirits have ye had, brother?"

CHARLIE'S AUNT TOURS

ODA, under the leadership of president Harry Ritchie and Professor J. Stanton McLaughlin, presented three major productions this year: Brandon Thomas' "Charlie's Aunt," Anton Chekov's "Three Sisters," and Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not For Burning." "Charlie's Aunt" was taken on tour several times to various schools in Lorain County. The organization also performed the medieval morality play "Everyman" at the Episcopal Church in Oberlin.

The Oberlin Film Series, which presented the memorable adaptation to the screen of Franz Kafka's "Metamorphosis," as well as a program of documentary films early in the year, was sponsored jointly by the Art Department and ODA.

HI-O-HI

After a paint-the-office siege last spring, the Hi-O-Hi once again embarked on its tempestuous run, with Molly Keller, the first editoress in six years, at the helm. Molly, who had many hands to help in the work, made the 1952 edition of the yearbook "an experiment in democracy" by dividing the work among the section editors, each being responsible for the layout of his section. With such an arrangement it was not always possible to tell just which oars were being pulled the hardest; so omitted from these pages will be many faces which appeared frequently in the Hi-O-Hi office throughout the year, but thanks are due to all—the "Unsung" and the "Sung."

This year's Hi-O-Hi featured several innovations which keynote informality. The faculty was shown as much as possible in the classroom environment. Following the plan of an informal presentation, the housing section depicted typical Oberlin memories by tracing the course of a day's events from morning to night. A flexible pattern was achieved in the activities section by interspersing informal action shots with formal group pictures.

BUDGET SLASH, DISTRIBUTION BUSINESS HEADACHES

While the Editorial staff compiled the Hi-O-Hi, the Business staff was at work solving the financial problems of the book. Under the direction of Bill Littman the group spent the first three months soliciting ads. Then as '52 began, the layout of the advertising section got under way. Book sales in the Theolog and the final distribution of the finished product were the other phases of the business staff's assignment.

KOCN

With the advent of KOCN's first full year of broadcasting, came the keynote: EXPANSION. A greatly increased recording and pressing service, accompanied by the purchase of a McIntosh recording amplifier; increased dormitory coverage; releases from all of the record companies; coverage of home and away athletic events; increased studio and office space, and air time (approximately 70 hours per week)—all this rapid growth of the newest campus organization was due to the thousands of hours of "love" lavished by Thurber, Stark, Welch, Edison, Pinkham, Weil, Bryce, and many others upon this demanding infant.

6:45 AM SHOW, REMOTE SPORTS EVENTS MAKE DEBUT

EXPANSION IN FULL SWING

Second semester saw the disappearance of many familiar faces and the addition of some "new" ones. With "2-1" came the streamlined programming "designed for you, the listener" which was heralded by new one-word titling for each show of the day. Gone, too, because of the increased record library, was the dependence upon the Lang-Worth library, the backbone of many stations. Replaced also by "live" "studio 6A shows" were the familiar Treasury Department and V.A. "canned" dramatics.

The Forum Board and the Symposium Committee of the Mock Convention cooperated in arranging a series of six programs on current American political problems.

SECOND SEMESTER—MOCK CONVENTION

The Mock Convention has been a universal topic of discussion this year from Talcott to Burton. It began last year when Fritz Harshbarger was selected convention chairman, and the members of the executive board were chosen. Most of us had hardly adjusted to the fact that we were back at Oberlin in September, when the Mock Convention was upon us. Was it to be Democratic or Republican? We decided GOP, by a two-thirds majority at a Friday Chapel.

With this settled, things really got under way. In November chairmen were selected to head pressure groups for foreign policy (2), civil rights, civil liberties, states' rights, labor, agriculture, business, consumers' interests, and government extension. Members of these groups lobbied for the inclusion of planks favorable to their respective groups in the party platform, and supported candidates who favored these planks.

On November 20 Mike Berla of the State Delegations Committee released the names of 69 chairmen and vice chairmen to head the 53 delegations. We had a chance to sign up for "the state of our choice" at a special Mock Convention chapel in February.

ONCE IN A LIFETIME

The Speakers Committee arranged for Senator James Duff of Pennsylvania to deliver the keynote speech and for Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon to preside as Convention Chairman.

A series of seven pre-convention symposia helped enlighten us on current political issues. Topics of the symposia were: "The Outlook for the GOP," Public Opinion and Propaganda, International Security and Civil Liberties, Foreign Policy in the Far East, Inflation and Price Controls, The Containment Policy, and Party Organization. Michael DiSalle and Arthur Garfield Hays highlighted symposia on Inflation and Controls and Civil Liberties respectively.

Throughout the year others were busy typing, making decorations, figuring out seating, and making arrangements for the parade (which involved sending a letter to England in search of an elephant). Somehow all the ground work got done by May 2 and 3 (instead of years hence) and the twenty-third Mock Convention was at last a reality.

Slaving away at Convention headquarters are Ben Belknap, Fritz Harshbarger, Niki Hays, Mary Ellen Laub, and Ted Shell.

The "Outlook for the GOP" presented by Congressman William Ayres, Austin Ranney, and Philip Willkie.

John Mullaney emphasized the influence of newspapers on public opinion at the second symposium.

Artists Jim Morrissey, Judy Abbott, and Anne Blackenburg make finishing touches for the Mock Convention office.

FOOTBALL

The Yeomen's pigskin season, initially a puzzle of "if's" and "maybe's," finally unscrambled into an average year. The surprisingly powerful Oberlin offensive and defensive machine took three of their first four games, losing only at DePauw. But three successive losses to Ohio Wesleyan and Rochester dimmed Oberlin's hopes. The big game of the year was the thrilling 28-27 victory over Denison before a large Parents' Day crowd.

Viewing final statistics, only the unpredictable Wooster ever forged more than two touchdowns ahead of the Crimson and Gold. Halfback Bob Burnham and quarterback Mickey Joseph ranked high in the Conference statistics and sparked the all-junior backfield that gives promise for an even better record than 4-4 next year.

Coach Butler, trainer Veazey, and the offensive squad anxiously watch the Yeomen defense.

The whole squad lines up for the opening kickoff in the Homecoming game against Hamilton.

HARRIERS WIN SIX, BUT DROP CHAMPIONSHIP

Coach Dan Kinsey's harriers opened the season with six straight wins but were unable to maintain the pace, as they dropped their final meet to Wooster, 29-28 and then placed second in the Ohio Conference run. The Yeomen bounced back the following week to win the Cincinnati Elks run.

The Oberlin and Slippery Rock Harriers are off to a fast start during the Allegheny football game... and four grueling miles later, Captain Dave Staley emerges the winner.

Up goes Pete Bellows as he heads the ball during the Case game, a 12-1 victory for the Yeomen.

Paced by All-Americans Dick Miller, Pete Bellows, and Bob Palmer, Coach Ben Collins' soccer squad roared victoriously through their eight game schedule to give Oberlin its sixth undefeated soccer team since 1930. Over the past three seasons, the Collinsmen have now won 26, lost 1 and tied 2. The offensive minded Yeomen also established a new team scoring record for the year as they netted 48 goals, five more than the 43 by the 1949 squad. In addition, left inside Bellows set two new individual scoring records. Against Allegheny Bellows tallied five times, breaking his own mark of four, while during the season he paced the club in scoring with 16 goals, another new mark. As if the record did not show enough, five players (Miller, Bellows, Palmer, Joe Molder and Bill Emery) were chosen to represent the Yeomen in an Olympic tryout.

BASKETBALL

Saving two of their top performances for the final stretch, Coach Bob Clark's cagers successfully wound up their season with convincing victories over Wittenberg and Mt. Union, two strong conference opponents.

These wins displayed the Yeomen's fighting spirit, for they came on the heels of four straight conference losses. This cluster of defeats, a pre-holiday slump, and trimmings away from home by Rochester and Case didn't keep the hoopsters from writing a 10-8 record in the books.

SWORDSMEN TRIUMPH

The Oberlin swordsmen notched one of their best seasons in years under the coaching of their faculty adviser, Dan Kinsey. The final 6-3 record they cut out is identical with the marks compiled by the two best squads of the past and gives them a claim to an unofficial title as Ohio Champions.

Despite a meager 6-3 dual meet record, the Yeomen swimming squad walked off with its 4th straight Ohio Conference title and was again runner-up in the CCC meet. Over 20 school, pool and conference records were established over the year. Captain Dick Ohmann set several marks in the individual medley and during the season he remained the top clutch swimmer of the squad. Dick Lillich twice tied Bruce Kinsey's 50 record, while Harry Hunsicker racked up a host of breaststroke marks, topped by performances of 1:02.6 and 2:25 in the 100 and 200 respectively.

TRACK

Although Coach Dan Kinsey's tracksters won 6 of 8 dual and triangular meets, they lacked the gold medal performances needed to retain their Ohio Conference title. Captain Tom Palmer, after setting a new Oberlin pole vault record of 13'5/8" in the regular season, was injured and unable to win his crown again. In the Conference meet, Justin Frost placed second in the mile and two mile runs, while frosh Pete Schultz copped second in the 440. In addition, Palmer, Frost and Schultz won consistently during the season, along with Captain-elect Don Kaufmann, Bruce Daube, and Dave Staley.

During the season Karl Johnson and Don Robertson led the nine in hitting with averages of .310 and .300 respectively. The Yeomen, in spite of a poor hitting record, made the most of their scoring opportunities with effective base running, stealing 57 bases. Pitching was also a big factor in the team's success, as Rich Kuusela, Larry Foulk and freshman Dick Anderson each won three games, including a 3-hitter by Foulk and a 4-hitter by Anderson.

STICKMEN HAVE MOST SUCCESSFUL SEASON

A 4-2 record gave Coach Ben Collins' lacrosse club a winning season in its first year as an Oberlin intercollegiate sport. Paced by Captains Mack and Zonino, the squad was beaten only by the Kenyon Lords. In the two-day tourney held in Oberlin, Kenyon won the crown with 17 points, while the Yeomen were a close second with 15. ## INTRAMURALS

Another year of I-M under the eye of Guy Throner found most of Oberlin's males participating in at least one sport. Last spring the Theologs carried off softball honors, while in the fall and early winter Trans-Peabodys took over in touch football and volleyball. The "semi-pro" White House squad took the basketball crown.

WRESTLING

Although still an unofficial and self-supporting sport, wrestling made its debut into Oberlin athletics during the winter. Coached and captained by John Murphy the squad struggled through a hard schedule with only one win and five losses. However, the experience plus plenty of underclassmen promises that better years are ahead.

NAVY DOWNS ARMY, AS NICALO SCORES LONE GOAL

In the twenty-second All-Star hockey game, Army defeated Navy by the close score of 1-0. The game was held in late afternoon, and the closing minutes were played in dimming light. Army showed a slight edge over Navy in the first half, with senior Nancy Nicalo scoring the lone point in the early moments of the game. The second half found the teams evenly matched, and play moved quickly from one end of the field to the other. Chile Child captained the victorious Army team, playing a fast and skillful game at right wing. Navy captain Betsy Powell played a strong defensive game at fullback. Alcee Merry and Polly Griswold cheered for the victors, while Marge Peterson and Betsy Tuft led Navy rooters.

HOCKEY

Cries of "sticks" and "bully" rang from the hockey field five days a week throughout the middle of November. The usual rain and three consecutive days of snow threw off the practice and game schedule, but with a little maneuvering, all the events were fitted into the season. Chile Child led the seniors up to first place, where they tied with Joan Pennock's sophomore team in the class tournament. Second place was held by the freshmen, captained by Les Michels, while the juniors, captained by Betty Baldwin, finished in last place.

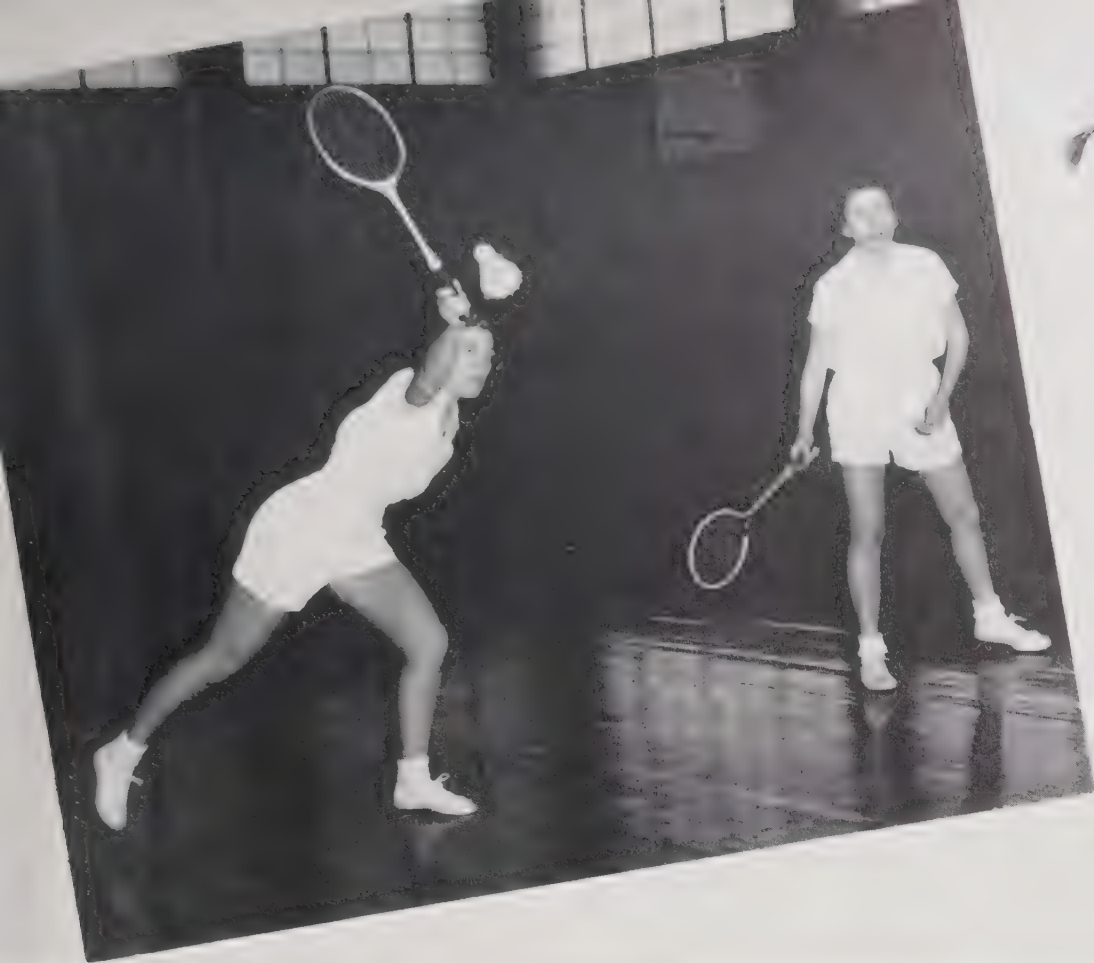

Ties and close contest, involving evening and Saturday afternoon sessions, highlighted the 1951 softball tourney. The May frosh finally defeated Fairchild in league one, while Lord became league two champions after winning the playoff of a three-way tie. May defeated Lord in the delayed inter-league game. The "Stars," captained by Ellie Hester, defeated Marge Roller's Bars 21-16 in the All-Star game which ended the Spring sports season.

INDIVIDUAL SPORTS

For the independent athletes, there was an abundance of individual sports throughout the year. Senior Cokie Chalmers and sophomore Rosie Parkins reached the finals in the tennis tournament. In badminton, senior Barb Meyer captured the championship for the fourth time and teamed up with Jan Fossenkemper to win the doubles tournament, while sophomore Renie Rideout became archery champion. Other individual sports included ping pong, bowling, and golf. In the house competitions, Tank won marathon swimming and received the Participation Cup award, which was instituted last year to be awarded each session to the house with the greatest percentage participation. Noble and Grey Gables combined to win the house archery tournament, Barrows-Allencroft to win house bowling, while Webster received the Participation Cup for house basketball. Plaques and cups for fall sports were awarded at the WAA Sports Banquet and for winter sports at the Y-P game.

MODERN DANCE

Dividing its members into advanced and beginning groups, the Modern Dance Club, open to all women, met every Monday night during the first semester. The second semester was devoted to preparation for the April 19th dance program, which included, among others, dances

BASKETBALL

With an almost perfect record of five wins and one tie, the Juniors came out on top in the class basketball tournament. The team was sparked by Captain Mary Ann Morgan, who left her usual guard position from time to time to turn into a high-scoring forward. Placing second, the Sophomores, with three wins, two losses, and one tie, bested the third place Seniors, led by Mare Landis. Great speed and good passing were shown by the fourth place freshmen. Sophomore Sally MacIntyre was the season's high scorer, rolling up a total of 57 points. May defeated Baldwin to capture the league one championship and then lost to Allencroft-Shurtleff in the house basketball play-off. The House All-Star game, brought Phyl Freedman's "So Whiches" a 21-10 victory over Helen Batten's "So Whats."

VOLLEYBALL

Leading the field in the 1951 class volleyball tournament, the Seniors won five games and lost only one. The Juniors followed with a 3-3 record, while the Sophomores tied the Freshmen for last place. Cathy Moll's "Crimsons" edged out Ann Fowler's "Golds" 28-26 in the All-Star game. House volleyball saw Tank win the Freshman league, while the upperclass league ended in a three-way tie between Barrows-Johnson, Fairchild-Pyle Inn, and Lord. Fairchild-Pyle Inn won the play-off and defeated Tank in the inter-league playoff. The All-Star game marked Joan Schenk's "Whys" success over Bev Bain's "Wherefores" 26-22.

TIGERS DEFEAT BULLDOGS

In the annual All-Star basketball game, Mare Landis's Princeton team defeated the Yale Bulldogs, captained by Barb Meyer, in a score of 34 to 26. The Tigers captured an early lead, and in two quarters of accurate shooting and fine passing scored 22 points to Yale's 6. The downtrodden Bulldogs were saved from pending fiasco in the second half, however, as the forwards located the elusive basket and turned the game into an exciting and uncertain battle. Princeton's Sally MacIntyre took scoring honors with a total of 12 points. Captain Landis and Yale's Mary Anne Morgan followed with 10 each. The evening was highlighted by the voluntary admission of interested men, several of whom came prepared with wigs and other feminine attire. In the traditional song contest, Talcott took first prize with "Rainy Refrain." Second place was shared by Allencroft's "Slump Song" and Embassy's "Multiple Vitamin O." The latter featured a finale in which Gigi Cascio, clothed in green shorts, leaped from a giant paper bottle. White House and Keep took third place and honorable mention respectively.

CLASS OF 1952

Climaxing a "capacity house" dinner in Rec Hall, "Blue Serenade", with Art Mooney and his band, brought the class of 1952's formal social life one step closer to the senior picnic, the prom, class breakfast, the sending of the graduation programs, fitting of robes, rehearsals, baccalaureate services, and the last fond farewells to our friends and soul-mates of the last four years. So many things that never were done, and now never would be; so many people whom we never got to know in spite of the relatively small class, all brought a note of sorrow to our last hectic days in Oberlin. Some of us, no sooner than we had received our "Bachelor" degrees, queued up outside Fairchild Chapel to trade in our bachelor status for one more satisfactory and lasting.

Marcia Mattson, Marty Dougherty, Ruth Tenney, and Connie Rogers chat with President Stevenson about the escapades of Nicholas and Napoleon.

CLASS OF 1953

Returning Juniors were rejuvenated from the heat of registration and sad thoughts of the approaching grind by fruit juice and cookies served in front of Peters. Next on the agenda was a square dance in cooperation with the Seniors. This collaboration also produced the Blue Serenade, the Christmas formal with Art Mooney's band. A unique hour-long Roman Banquet for band, students, and guests highlighted the intermission proceedings. Adding to the festivities were the decorations featuring colored spot lights playing on silver Christmas trees.

With traffic blocked and a band playing from the steps of Finney Chapel, the annual street dance in March led off second semester activities. The year wound up with the Junior Prom.

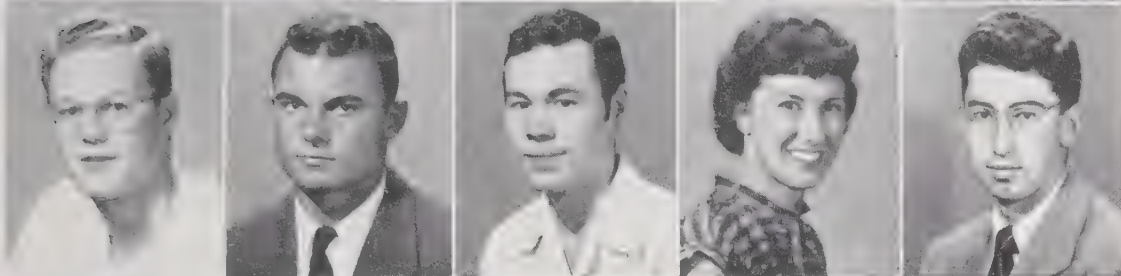

William Shell, Men's Social Chairman; Jane Tucker, Women's Social Chairman; Philip Read, President; Dorothy Brownell, Secretary-Treasurer; James Mills, Vice President.

CLASS OF 1954

The first few weeks of school saw the Sophomores eyeing the impending Hell Day with fiendish anticipation. After several skirmishes on M.B. lawn, resulting in the proper humiliation of the Frosh, peace was established in a "Bury the Hatchet" party.

The semi-annual Monsoon season forced a scheduled picnic into Rec Hall. Two months later a Soph-Frosh masquerade ball was staged, followed by Club 54 5/5. The displaying of Steve Ostrow's winning banner climaxed the annual banner dance, and shortly before summer vacation, a picnic culminated the Sophomore social activities.

CHURCH, FUN, STUDIES

LEFT: Singing lightens the curriculum of the theology students and adds to the chapel services in Fairchild.

One hundred thirty-two students representing fifteen denominations make up the largest enrollment in the graduate School of Theology's one hundred fifteen year history. Ministerial students from all over the world have gathered to study and practice what they are learning. Represented in this polyglot community are Germany, France, Japan, and Hawaii. From this it is clear that the School of Theology is continuing its tradition of international sharing and co-operating.

On the lighter side, the busy theology student finds time for socializing and entertainment. Highlighting the social calendar, the annual Christmas dinner for students and wives was followed by a service in Fairchild Chapel. Sports, parties, bull sessions, assemblies, and out-of-town ministerial work had their place in the students' lives as well as the work of becoming fully acquainted with their religion.

President William E. Stevenson

PRESIDENT WILLIAM E. STEVENSON

"President and Mrs. Stevenson at home to Seniors, 3:30-5:30." These familiar words represent just one aspect of the president's crowded schedule that makes him the leading candidate for the title, "busiest man on campus." A glance at his date book reveals an awe-inspiring list of speeches and meetings ranging from addresses before church groups to presiding at Boys' Athletic League dinners. The opening event of the year was the four day Combined Plan Conference at M.I.T. In November, (a sample month) besides attending to manifold administrative chores, he attended meetings of the Four College Presidents, the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges in Cleveland, and the Princeton Chapel Committee at Princeton plus attending banquets for Lord and Lady Halifax and the English Speaking Union in New York. In addition, he spoke at a Community Chest dinner, a meeting of the National Council for Social Studies in Detroit, and an Oberlin Alumni gathering in New York. To fill up any spare time, he serves: on the Ford Company's Scholarship Board, as chairman of the Educational Legislation Committee of the Ohio College Association, as a member of the National Selection Committee on Fulbright awards, and as chairman of their committee for the Pacific, Asia and the Middle East. "Busiest man"—we'd vote yes.

FIRST ROW: John Kennedy, Assistant Director of the Conservatory; Blair Stewart, Dean of the College; Frances Seaman, Assistant Director of the Conservatory; Donald Love, Secretary. SECOND ROW: Vincent Hart, Investment Executive; William Davis, Treasurer; David Robertson, Director of the Conservatory. MISSING: Paul Douglas, Assistant to the President; Thomas Harris, Assistant to the President.

Frances Seaman, Assistant Dean of Women; Edward Bosworth, Dean of Men; Katharine von Wenck, Associate Dean of Women; Virginia Long, Assistant to the Director of Recreation; Mary Dolliver, Dean of Women; Gordon Liddle, Assistant Dean of Men.

THE ADMINISTRATION

Serving as a vital link between the President, students, faculty, trustees, and public, the college administrative staff carries on diverse essential duties. The Treasurer's office successfully battled the nation-wide inflationary trend, while the secretary's office handled the reams of paper work necessary to keep the college functioning. The Deans of Men and Women continued their job of aiding and advising students on everything from personal difficulties to academic troubles. A new appointment this year was Paul Douglas, assistant to the President, in charge of publicity.

PROFS PRODUCE LEARNING, LABOR AND LAUGHS

Lecturing before classes represents only one aspect of the Oberlin Professor's life.

This year, for the benefit of CRD, professors contributed their talents to Phinnies Phollies and volunteered to be auctioned off as waiters to the highest bidding dining halls. In addition they participated in faculty sports teams and both formal and informal social gatherings. The faculty exercises almost complete legislative control over the internal affairs of the College. One of their most important functions is the formation of College policy. One of the outstanding actions taken by the faculty this year was the unanimous approval of a statement defending academic freedom. In reaffirming Oberlin's traditional stand on this issue in the light of recent controversies, the statement stressed the fact that "our hope of transcending our present and partial insights" depend upon the freedom of scholars to "pursue their studies wherever the truth, as they see it, may lead them."

*W*e wish to commend the staff of the Hi-O-Hi Yearbook of Oberlin College in the fine presentation of this year's life on the campus.

It gives us pleasure in our contacts to watch the enthusiasm and keen interest portrayed in discussions over preserving the individual freedom of enterprise and fair play.

In all those who breathe the atmosphere of this great institution, one feels the pulse of growth in true Americanism.
